Purcell headquarters return to Diamondhead

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Purcell Co., Inc., which developed the Diamondhead Community, has again located its corporate headquarters in the Hancock County subdivision.

The company, formerly named the Diamondhead Corp., in 1970 changed its name and moved its corporate offices from Hancock to the Pinehurst, N.C., area to manage its financially troubled 10,400-acre development.

The company was originally located in Atlanta, Ga.

Purcell has now moved to the present offices of Pinehurst for $1 million, the North Carolina court of record was purchased by the company in 1971.

Larry Bridges, Purcell's financial vice president and treasurer, Tuesday rejected the company's officially returned to Mississippi Jan. 1 with a 10-member staff.

He said the Pinehurst sale will have no effect whatsoever on the local development.

In addition to Diamondhead, Purcell owns Lake Arrowhead near Atlanta, Ga.; Sand Piper Cove in Destin, Fla.; Lake Forest in Mobile, Ala.; Navarro in Houston, Tex.; and Falconhead in Ardmore, Okla.

Regarding the Pinehurst sale, Purcell news release states the company "has reached a tentative agreement with the principal lending banks of Pinehurst, Inc., and Resort Assets Corp., a newly organized North Carolina corporation, which will acquire all of the properties and assets."

"The plan includes existing mortgage debt to the banks, the owners will assume all liabilities or obligations other than a $1.55 million loan due to Purcell which amounts to over 10 percent of the total," Purcell notes.

The Purcell release notes that a complicated 1978 Pinehurst stock sale agreement with the banks is terminated.

"Resort Assets will repay advances of $2.5 million in installments which were made to Pinehurst by M.P. McLean, the principal stockholder of Purcell," the release states.

Bridges said McLean does not own any resort assets stock.

The release also states Purcell has reached an agreement with the banks to restructure Purcell's remaining $10 million loan by having McLean Securities, Inc. (a Delaware company) exchange its newly issued stock for Purcell notes.

Bridges would not explain the statement regarding note transaction because he said it would take about five hours to unravel.

The release concludes: "Management believes that this will permit it to concentrate its time and attention on the operation of the remaining six properties where it is accelerating its new home building program."

September or October of this year.

"If you are not going to be able to connect up to the city then we are going to have to start thinking very seriously," Nease said.

"Development costs will be seriously impaired and lot prices will have to go up," he added.

Nease said individual wells would be an added expense while construction of a sewer treatment plant would also be necessary.

"Lots would go up because of the additional costs and I'm not sure we could bear the cost of the additional construction," he stated.

Council noted they would like to connect the subdivision to the city; however, water production from a well on Leonards' property could pose problems with sand infiltration.

That well would be needed to supply the subdivision with water.

The well was closed down several months ago because of sand infiltration.

Councilmen have been studying the matter since that time to determine what action should be taken.

In addition, the council is far from being on firm ground regarding the sewerage issue.

On Feb. 26, the council members and the mayor met with officials from the Department of Natural Resources in Jackson to explain why they chose

45th annual observance of National Wildlife Week

A national observance of the renowned actor and environmentalist has been named honorary chairman of National Wildlife Week, to be observed this year from March 14 through 20.

For the second time in twelve years, Redford will lead the annual observance of the week, first proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938 to rally public support for the nation's wildlife population, and sponsored every year since then by the National Wildlife Federation.

"We Care About Eagles" is the theme for this year's week now in its 15th year.

NWF's president, C. Clifton Young, a "Reno" Nevada attorney, said Redford is once again "ideally suited" to serve as "Wildlife Week" chairman.

"The way he lives demonstrates a deep commitment to the conservation of our natural resources," said Young.

"In fact, if people would pay as much attention to his environmental ethics as they do to his films, we'd have an entire country of conservationists." The aim of National Wildlife Week is to inform the public about the "plight" of the bald eagle which is one of our national birds and an endangered species.

More than 15 million schoolchildren, teachers and conservationists are expected to participate in this year's Wildlife Week activities.

Hundreds of thousands of educational kits and Wildlife Week posters, all designed to inform students and conservation-minded adults about the bald eagle and other endangered animals, will be distributed to schools across the country.

Redford heartily endorsed the "We Care About Eagles" theme. "Eagles are magnificent birds," said the 44-year-old actor and film producer. "The only problem is—there just aren't enough of them around any more." The American bald eagle, once plentiful, across North America, is now an endangered species in all but five of the lower 48 states, Redford noted.

"If we don't work to save him, our children who deserve to see these splendid birds in flight, may see only in sculpture, on our money, and on pages of picture books," said Redford. "But it doesn't have to be that way. We can meet our human needs for water, energy, land and other resources without destroying whole species of animals."

Redford succeeds 1981 wildlife week chairman Walter Cronkite, who headed an educational week based on the theme "We Care About Oceans." Before last year, Redford had served as Wildlife Week chairman for four consecutive years, from 1971 through 1980. He had also been chairman in 1971 and 1972.

As chairman of National Wildlife Week, Redford will narrate public service announcements for radio and television. The TV "spots," which feature an American bald eagle filmed in its natural habitat, explain how the eagle is adapting to life for the last 200 years, is struggling to survive despite the destruction of much of his habitat.

"Habitat destruction is probably the greatest single threat to the world's wildlife populations," said Redford. "It's a very sad place where I live, Provo Canyon, where there are no places where you can walk through the woods and see deer, mountain lions and other animals because their habitat has been destroyed and that animal cannot survive. The sad thing is that habitat destruction is very often unnecessary. There are ways to manage our natural resources without sacrificing our wildlife heritage."

Redford's concern for the environment, which dates back further than his acting career, had its roots in his college days at the University of Colorado. There, his outdoor activities, including mountain climbing and skiing, made him aware of an increasingly threatened environment, increasingly threatened by man's activities.

Since then, the star of 23 films has played leading roles in many environmental debates.

Adolescents discovering 'new' drug

By JOHN MUSICK

MSW

Gulf Coast Mental Health Center

A new trend has emerged

in the past several years which causes problems for adolescents and their families.

This "new" drug is not pot, cocaine or speeded-up coffee.

"Most people do not think of alcohol as a drug which can be abused." However, the estimated 17 million alcoholics in the country can tell you otherwise.

According to the Department of Health and Human Services, most people have their first drink while in grade school. Because "social drinking" and "getting loaded" is as acceptable today, the adolescent has ready access to alcohol without the judgement and maturity that adults are supposed to have.

What starts out as an experiment or a once-in-a-while tasting becomes a serious problem.

Adult alcoholics are sad;

ten-year-old alcoholics are pathetic.

Why do kids drink? Take a look at the following list:

-It helps me relax

-It helps me have fun

-I like the taste

-I'm curious

-I like the feeling of getting high or drunk

-My friends drink

-It makes me feel better about myself

-My parents don't want me to

These are all reasons, but not the only ones. How many parents have passed on these reasons to their children? Take the following quiz to find out how much you know about drinking.

If it is really easy to fall if you are a drinker, then you are an adolescent.

Pass Separate School administrators reelected

The Board of Trustees of the Pass Christian School District approved a amended financial report for the 1981-82 football season.

The Board has approved a statement, at its January meeting which showed that receipts exceeded expenditures by $4,576.

However, Supt. Leroy Lizana stated that a bookkeeping error was detected after the report was released and the corrected report showed that receipts exceeded expenditures by $4,179.

Lizana presented the board a revised school calendar for the 1982-83 school term. The recent cold wave necessitated the closing of school for three days. The school district had an approved calendar which included 177 teaching days. Since state law mandates a minimum of 175 teaching days per school year, the loss of three teaching days left the school district with only 174 teaching days for the 1981-82 school term.

Lizana explained that the calendar as previously approved had a teacher workday scheduled for Jan. 22. The recommendation was to reschedule the teacher workday on June 4 and to reschedule Jan. 22 as a regular school day.

Following a discussion related to how the rescheduled workday would be used and the relative effects of adding an additional day to the time teachers would be required to attend school, the board approved the recommendation as presented by Lizana with the stipulation that the principals' had discretionary authority as to how the adjusted workday would be used.

Hancock Library issues January usage report

The Hancock County Library System's January report on library usage indicates a total of 4,930 print and non-print items were loaned by the Kiln, Waveland, and headquarters library in Bay St. Louis.

The figure includes 51 records; 29 films and filmstrips; 110 magazines; one piece of audio-visual equipment; and 4,731 books.

The library system borrowed eight books from other libraries to fill library users' requests and loaned 32 books to other public libraries through interlibrary loan.

Some 92 new borrowers were registered at the three branches, and 89 people attended library programs during the month.

During January, reference and information questions were answered by the library staff.

In other business the board received two bid quotes for a motor for the sawing machine at the Pass Middle School.

Lizana reported that the motor currently on the machine is inadequate because it overheats when in use.

The original motor on the unit was beyond repair.

The Board voted to accept the low bid quote of $580 received from McManamy's Refrigeration of Gulfport for the replacement motor.

Ideal Appliance of Metairie, La., submitted a bid quote of $502.

The board voted to accept the low bid quote of $335 for one 200-gallon skid tank for gasoline storage and $70 for one rotary hand pump for the tank.

The school district recently purchased two 8800-cu.-ft. vehicles for use in the school district. The vehicles arrived and are equipped for unleaded gas only. All other school vehicles use regular gasoline and are serviced at the gasoline pumps located on the high school campus.

The new storage equipment will be used to store the unleaded fuel for the new vehicles. The Board opened and awarded bids to low bidders for cafeteria food supplies; the bid for venetian blinds was awarded to Martin School Equipment Company; and the low bid for printing of forms for the cafeteria department was awarded to Lawrence Printing Company of Greenwood.

An enrollment report for the fifth school month showed a district enrollment of 1,361 students with 1294.90 students in average daily attendance.

The district transports 1,100 students with an average of 1,031 students transported daily.

The 1,361 ADA students represent an increase of 28 students over a comparable period during the last school year.

However, the addition of 76 kindergarten students results in a net loss of 49 students from the same period last year.

The loss of student enrollment and the subsequent loss of students in average daily attendance equates to a loss of teacher units.

The district receives a teacher unit from the state for every 24 students in average daily attendance in grade 1-4, and a teacher unit for every 27 students in average daily attendance in grades 5-12.

The decrease in enrollment of 48 students could cause the school district some financial woes if the district could be faced with the possibility of having to reduce staff or cut services.

When the district faces state financed teacher units school districts some financial woes or the district could be faced with the possibility of having to reduce staff or cut services.

When the district faces state financed teacher units school districts are faced with the realization that they must either support the units with district funds or reduce

HNC faces tough competition

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock North Central District VIII Class A boys basketball champions faced District VI Class A champion Port Gibson in the Hawk gym Wednesday during first round action in the South Mississippi State Tournament.

That game had not been played at press time. Results will be included in Sunday's edition of the Sea Coast Echo.

Winner of that South Mississippi playoff event will enter the semifinals at Waveland Friday.

In the first round action of girl's play in the South Mississippi State Tournament, the Hancock girls varsity cagers bowed out to fifth ranked Port Gibson girls 68-43.

Hawkettes Head Coach Larry Johnson had expected the contest in Port Gibson Tuesday to be a tough one for his cagers.

Johnson noted Port Gibson totalled more than 220 points in the three games preceding the Tuesday night contest.

A Hawk victory over Purvis Tornadoes Saturday in finals action of the District VIII Class A tournament in Pass Christian earned them the opportunity to play Port Gibson on their home court.

Saturday action in Pass Christian marked an exciting boy's final game in District VIII Class A basketball game.

Although the game ended in favor of Hancock's favor, the Hawks battled for three tough quarters before extending their lead to that comfortable winning margin.

A fast paced first quarter ended with the Hawks out in front 16-15. Throughout the second quarter the Tornadoes continued to hang tough. The half ended with the score at 27.

In the third period of play the Hawks pulled ahead by 10 points. Thoughts that the game might be out of reach for Purvis ended when the Tornadoes came back with five unanswered baskets to tie the score at 45 each.

While the catch up points gave Purvis fans in the capacity crowd a chance down the arena with whoops and hollers, Hawk fans had their reverberating revenge in the final period.

Purvis went suddenly cold in the fourth quarter while the Hawks stayed red hot, outscoring their opponents 24-11 in the final period.

After gaining a solid lead in the first two minutes of that last period of play, Hancock began to stall the ball. Fruile attempts by Purvis to steal brought more roars from Hancock fans as the clock ticked down the final seconds of the ball game.

Hawk Kyle Malley totaled 19 points for the evening, followed by teammates Brian Arcement with 17 points, Dennis Lee with 17, and Neal Lander with 12.

Tornado Darrell Jackson also came up with 19 for the evening while teammate Russell Davis added 12.

The Hancock girl's faced some rough opposition from the third ranked Stone County team prior to the boy's game Saturday.

Stone again outscored HNC, as they did in the finals of the Deep South Conference championship in Bay St. Louis a week earlier.

The Hawkettes attempted to stall the ball game in the first period.

Head Coach Larry Johnson noted the stall tactic worked in the first period which ended 2-0 in favor of Stone.

But in the second period the Hawkettes turned the ball over three times and Stone managed to score on each opportunity.

By the end of the half Hancock was still scoreless while Stone had totalled 10.

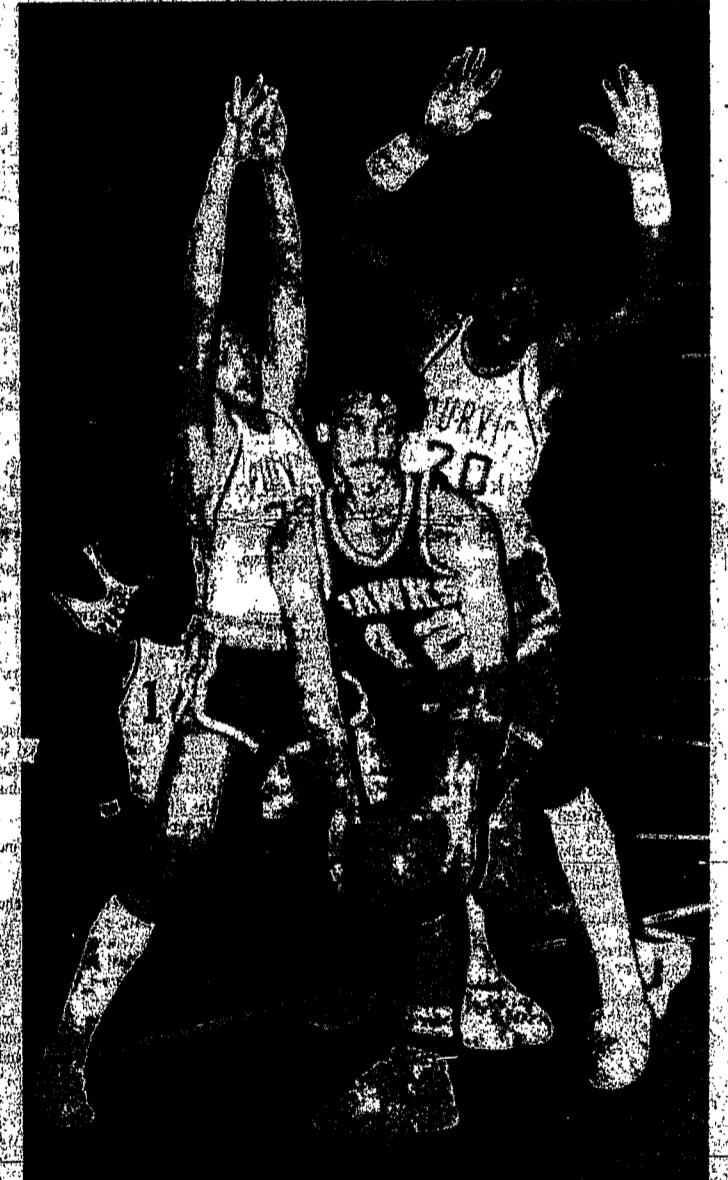

The game opened up in the third period, but the Hawkettes had a five basket lead to overtake.

Although the Hawkettes never gave up, the lead was increased more in final quarter and the game ended 56-24. "It's hard to play with them," Johnson said about the six foot tall or taller starting lineup of Stone.

RUNNERS UP: Hancock North Central girls basketball players receive a runners-up trophy from Pass Christian School Superintendent LeRoy Litzana and Assistant Superintendent George Watson following final action of the District VIII Class A tournament in Pass Christian Wednesday. The girls dropped the contest to the third ranked Stone County team, 56-24 but continued on to the South Mississippi State Tournament Tuesday. GUARDED CLOSELY: Hancock North Central Hawk Kyle Malley passes out of trouble during final of the District VIII Class A tournament action in Pass Christian while being guarded closely by his coach, Mr. Jim Williams. Williams' record is 10-0 with 19 points. Hancock went on to win the game and the tournament trophy by defeating the Vikings 56-49. (Staff photo by Brent Macey)

High blood pressure number one cause of death in state

Approximately one out of every three Mississippians is affected by high blood pressure, which indirectly (through heart attacks and strokes) is the number one cause of death in Mississippi.

Mississippi falls above the national average of the adult population with high blood pressure, according to Dr. Dennis Medeiros, assistant professor of pathology at Mississippi State University. And it has one of the highest percentages of high blood pressure in the South.

The South is called the "Stroke Belt" by some researchers because it leads all other regions in the country in incidents of high blood pressure.

Medeiros is conducting studies on Mississippi

Open house planned on missile frigate

The guided missile frigate USS Talbot (FFG 42) will tie up at the port of Gulfport dock Saturday, Feb. 20, in the afternoon.

The 3,200-ton Brooke-class Frigate is homeported in Mayport, Fla., and has recently completed a Mediterranean deployment which included visits to Greece, Morocco, Turkey, France, Italy, Spain and the British Crown Colony of Gibraltar. She participated in exercises off the Libyan coast in which Libyan aircraft were engaged by U.S. Navy fighter aircraft.

Gulfport is a routine port call for the Talbot, but while here she will hold an open house the afternoon of Feb. 21 from 1-5 p.m.

During her stay on the Coast

American, Capt. William A. Martin, governor of the Naval Home; LeRoy Urle, president, Navy League; Charles Webb, president, Mississippi Port Authority; Bill Bailey, executive director, Gulfport Area Chamber of Commerce; George Schlegel, commodore, Gulfport Yacht Club and William Berger, chairman, Military Officers Council, Gulfport Chamber of Commerce.

The Talbot is commanded by Cmdr. Thomas E. McLean. She boasts an officer complement of 17 and a crew of about 250 enlisted men and she is designed for anti-submarine and anti-air warfare. Named for a Revolutionary War hero, Capt. Silas Talbot, who commanded the U.S. Frigate Constitution, she proudly wears the 1980-81 Battle Efficiency award for overall excellence.

Adolescents and young adults in an effort to determine some causes of high blood pressure.

He is testing to see if the geographic area affects high blood pressure through water and soil minerals dietary habits and hair mineral concentrations.

Individuals with higher amounts of calcium and magnesium, Medeiros said, tend to have lower blood pressure.

Some research shows that populations living in harder water areas have lower rates of high blood pressure.

Medeiros said young people with high blood pressure bear in mind that more effective treatment can be found.

Around here we have mostly soft water. There are cases where people from the North who migrate to the South develop high blood pressure which decreases when they return to the North.

Medeiros said a high incidence of high blood pressure among blacks may be due to a genetic component.

The ancestors of today's black population lived on a lower sodium diet. Socioeconomic conditions may also affect the increased incidence of high blood pressure among blacks.

In the past, it was believed males had a higher incidence of high blood pressure because they smoked more, were under more stress, and because their sex hormones seem to have a role in incidents of stroke.

The patterns of the first two factors may be changing, possibly due to more women in the work force.

"Overweight people have high blood pressure. Blood pressure does increase with age," Medeiros said.
